

AA Electric Introduces InduSoft Web Studio

Our Software. Your Vision.

Real-time, All the Time, Everywhere.

Wouldn't it be great if you could take your SCADA system with you everywhere you go? Wouldn't you like to propel your operation into the 21st century by augmenting your existing infrastructure with mobile technology? How quickly could you respond to down systems or emergency conditions if you had up-to-the-minute information wherever you were? With InduSoft Web Studio you can do all that and more.

Fine-tune processes. Shrink waste. Diminish downtime. Lift profits. Boost security.

You're always informed and you're always in control. That's InduSoft.

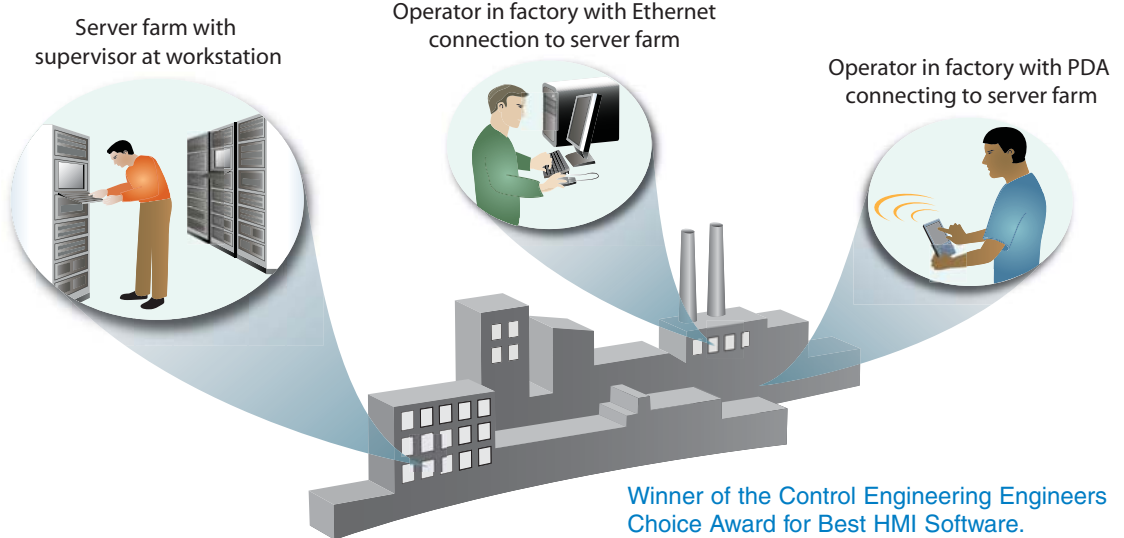

One Development Environment. Multiple Platforms. Endless Applications.

InduSoft Web Studio is the most advanced, most comprehensive development environment on the planet. Why? Only InduSoft enables the development of applications in a single environment for all supported Microsoft operating systems. Whether you're developing a high-end, highly redundant, SCADA system or extending that system to include mobile and Web applications, the development environment is the same—regardless of the hardware architecture.

Just build the application once and you're up and running on any machine with a Windows operating system. No Fuss No Muss.

RACE to Your Bottom Line

Our Rapid Application Configuration Environment (RACE) lets you develop and implement your solution in days or weeks—not months. InduSoft is the most complete, most powerful, HMI/SCADA configuration system available today—and it's the only viable Windows CE and Windows Mobile solution on the market today. 22,000 applications worldwide are working testaments to the fact that you can't go wrong with InduSoft.

InduSoft Web Studio V6.1

is the ideal Rapid Application Configuration Environment (RACE) solution for your industry.

InduSoft Web Studio is the most powerful collection of RACE tools offering Web and wireless integration on the market today. You can use InduSoft Web Studio to create native applications that run on all supported Windows operating systems and Web-based HMI/SCADA applications – with no other tools required.

The simple drag-and-drop, point-and-click development environment enables you to mimic the most complex behaviors of your live processes.

Use InduSoft Web Studio with the most popular Web browsers to manage workstations; monitor, debug, and update software remotely; and access real-time, dynamic graphic screens, trends/alarms, reports, and recipes online.
